About me I'm a 1985 born dutch citizen living in Finland practically my entire life. I specialize in web technologies such as PHP, HTML, CSS and JavaScript as well as platforms such as Wordpress. I enjoy a low-level programming style and I dislike bloatware. I don't shy away from learning new things, though. As proof of this I recently taught myself making games with Unity and C# as well as Godot and gdscript. I pride myself as being mr. Dependable – I tend to stick with clients. I strive to understand my clients' needs and to develop solutions that help support their business.

Language skills

I am deeply immersed in HTML and CSS and fluent in PHP and JavaScript. I can hold a conversation in C#. My MySQL skills won't leave me helpless either.

Of the mundane languages I am fluent in both Finnish and English. I can have a conversation in Dutch. I know some basic Swedish and German.

Personal life

I'm married to Tiina and together we have been blessed with two sons. I'm a professing and practicing Reformed Christian. In my freetime, besides spending time with my family, I make heavy music, write a blog and make theologically oriented YouTube videos.
